

HAPPENINGS IN AND ABOUT TOWN

RECALL MEMORIES OF SUMMER CAMP

Reunion of 100 Corey Lake
Campers Held at Y. M. C. A.
Friday Night.

One hundred or more youths, silent and meditative, a darkened room only lighted by the flare and flash of a rollicking log fire which in the fireplace merrily burned and cracked, 100 pairs of eyes resting in repose and watching the flames and smoke as they swirled up the gloomy chimney—to an outsider who tiptoed through the doorway it was whispered—memories of grand old Corey lake.

Friday evening, the most successful reunion of Corey lake visitors and guests ever held was convened in the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. to talk old times and to live over again the events which long have been hung away on memory's wall.

Not only were South Bend visitors to the lake well represented, but out of town guests from Glenview, Ill., Chicago, Niles and other cities were attracted by the call to old times and were present when the roll was called by P. W. Kamalopoli, who was in charge at the lake last summer.

The evening's entertainment opened with a play hour during which many good puns and jokes were told on one member or another. This was followed by a series of views thrown on a screen of scenes taken last summer and the summers before at the lake.

This was followed by a short business session during which a number of announcements regarding plans for the summer were made by the secretary. He stated that there and a half scores of new territory had lately been acquired and stated that the Y. M. C. A. now controlled practically all of their side of the lake. Plans were also made for the year's entertainment.

After this the boys faced the big open fireplace and one member played the piano and for over an hour songs and yells recalling happenings at the lake, in the summers gone by were enjoyed.

Those from out of town were Arthur Fox, Bob Williams and Donald Jones, Glenview, Ill.; Howard Sprock and Stockton Comstock, Chicago; Clayton Herrah, Orin Forsyth, Homer Rice, Ben Hance, Ervin Knot, Carl Radwald, Leroy Warren and Leonard Van Noppe, Niles; Ed Hinks, Allen Pilmore, John Ledbetter, Francis Frame, Michigan City; Edwin Brown, Detroit; Roger Williams, Argle Campbell, Phanor Howlett, Harry Beamer, Moler Witter and Deno Howlett, Mishawaka.

TWO HOMES ENTERED

Burglars Gain Entrance to Houses on E. Washington Av.

Two E. Washington av. homes were entered by thieves in the absence of their owners Friday night and at an early hour Saturday morning officers from the detective and police departments were busy ascertaining the amount of loot.

The home of Cy Trump, 904 E. Washington av. was the first home reported to police headquarters, and shortly afterwards came a similar report from the home of A. W. Barnard, 913 E. Washington av. Entrance was gained in both instances through rear windows each in a manner similar to the other. It is thought both houses were entered by the same robber.

Money and a few articles of silverware were designated as missing in the early reports.

LODGE NOTES

A 90-day campaign for new members was decided on at a meeting of the South Bend lodge No. 1 of the K. O. T. M. held Friday night in Beyer hall. A complete organization was formed and the campaign will start at once. Three teams were appointed and are entitled the White, Red and Black, and are captained by the following men: White, Charles Truland; Red, C. B. Mathews; and the Black, John Harris.

Great Com. John Harris of the supreme lodge at Indianapolis was present at the gathering and delivered an address in which he spoke of the many new features which had recently been added to the order. He especially spoke of the feature which will provide for all disabled and aged people in the lodge and the orphans of deceased members. A fund of $29,000,000, the surplus money of the order, will be used for this purpose and for carrying out this work. The meeting was very largely attended.

CONDUCT CAMPAIGN

During the past week in six schools of South Bend, the Franklin, Portage, Lincoln, River Park, Mussel and Colfax, a special campaign in the interest of the protection of dumb animals has been carried out under the direction of the South Bend Humane society and through the bands of Mercy organizations, the junior auxiliaries.

Special features including addresses with stereoscopic slides were given by E. W. Homesley, special agent for the Humane society.

Furniture Man is Worsted in Fight
Over Xmas Present

Having traveled back and forth between the John P. McGill furniture store and the residence of Mrs. George Davies of Navarre pl., several times and then having landed in a justice court, following an altercation between two of the principals in controversy, a magazine rack valued at $15 has found what is thought to be a final resting place at the McGill store.

Mrs. George Davies ordered a magazine rack through the firm of John P. McGill from a catalog. The rack was intended as a gift for her husband. It arrived on the Thursday prior to Christmas.

The next day Mrs. Davies went to the McGill store and told them that it would not do; it was not as large as the one she had ordered. McGill's employees said they would attend to it after Christmas.

Nothing came of it and in February the man of the house, George Davies, sent it back to the McGill establishment. He in turn ordered it returned to the Davies. It had not been unpacked and was unused. Harsh words are said to have followed this latest move, and still harsher ones came when the travel stained rack was again sent to the McGill store, Davies and McGill, it is said, had an altercation, in which the latter got the worst of it.

McGill allowed the magazine stand to remain in his store, but filed suit in Justice J. Elmer Peak's court to recover $15. After Mr. and Mrs. Davies had testified and McGill and one of his employees had likewise gone on the stand, the furniture man dismissed the suit.

McGill at present has the magazine rack.

SUFFERINGS RELATED

Rev. Dougherty Tells of Period Pre-vious to Christ's Death.

"A Day of Suffering and Sacrifice" was the subject selected by Rev. F. K. Dougherty for the Passion week service conducted Friday evening at the Grace M. E. church.

"The sorrowful way in which Jesus went to Calvary, should begin at Gethsemane," declared the speaker, "because His disciples here forsake Him and fled, and it should take in all the weary distance which He walked on that dreadful night, and the more dreadful following day, until He was lifted up and the last act of the divine tragedy was complete in the cross."

It is in fact, all one mighty and awful drama, of mysterious and infinite passion, from the agony of tears and bloody sweat in the garden, to the bitter cry of desertion in the closing scene of darkness and death. The betrayal, the arrest, the arraignment, the false accusation, the mockery, the denial, the scourging, the final sentence and its swift execution, must all unite to make up the meaning of that most sacred and awful mystery, the cup of sorrow which Jesus drank, the cross of death which Jesus bore."

SUES FOR DIVORCE

Francis S. Wright Charges Wife
With Abandonment.

Francis S. Wright, member of the firm of Wright and Bayless, filed suit for divorce yesterday afternoon in the superior court from his wife, Christiana Wright. The only ground mentioned in the complaint is abandonment.

The couple was married July 4, 1908, the affidavit sets out, separating Dec. 29 of the same year. Wright alleges that his wife frequently imperturbed his wife to return to live with him but that she refused to do so.

Rodney Bayless, Wright's partner, was made defendant in a suit filed in superior court on Thursday in which it is charged that he managed a detective agency and agreed to find employment for Ford Thompson at $250 a day as a detective upon the latter's payment to him of $50.

HERE'S ANOTHER ONE

Wolverine Comes to South Bend and Gets "Piped."

E. Z. Graft is a plumber. He came here from Benton Harbor, Mich., where intoxicating liquors are not legally sold. Graft started a little plumbing business all his own, became well "piped" and after wandering about along the delightful banks of the St. Joseph river, lost his hat in the water. Graft walked calmly in after the headpiece, floundered somewhat and attracted the attention of passersby.

He was fined the usual $1 in city court Saturday morning and went to jail to stay out the sentence of the court.

SARCASM HURLED IN PLOW TRIAL

Attorneys Charge Each Other
With Spiriting Away
Important Papers.

Sarcasm was rampant late yesterday afternoon in the circuit court when attorneys trying the long drawn out South Bend Chilled Plow receivership contest hurled charges and counter charges at each other, alleging that certain letters and papers needed to try the lawsuit had been spirited away by parties on both sides.

The argument developed following the direct examination of Elba Downer of Columbus, O., agent of the plow corporation, who testified as to the general reputation of the product of the South Bend concern and the number of "kicks" made by dealers about the plow. The agent testified that the general reputation on the whole was good and that few complaints were registered.

It came time for cross examination and attorneys for the plaintiff, Mrs. Maria Casaday, and the cross complainant, Mrs. Sarah J. Oren, demanded that letters written by the agent to the corporation be produced. They refused to begin their cross examination until the letters were forthcoming.

Counsel for the A. D. Baker interests agreed that they were willing that the opposing attorneys should have the letters which pertained to the testimony given by the agent. The plaintiff's lawyers demanded access to all the letters written by the agent. Whereupon a merry word battle was precipitated and the defense attorneys told the court that they did not feel required to let the "adversary steal their thunder."

Judge Funk, who is hearing the case, put a stop to the argument by allowing an order that the attorneys should have access to all letters written by the agent, but should be allowed to remove from the letter files only those which purported to be the witness' testimony. This proved a victory for the plaintiffs on this one point.

On direct examination, W. H. Walker, agent from Wisconsin, the first witness for the defense, testified that he had few complaints to make on the manner in which the South Bend product held up his territory. A rather damaging cross examination followed in which letters containing complaints that the agent had made to the company were read into evidence.

BUSINESS COLLEGE NOTES.

The South Bend Business college closed Thursday for a vacation until Monday to give the students an opportunity to spend Easter day at home.

The following students accepted positions during the week:

Menzo Cummins, Paw Paw, Renfranz, the tailor.
Mildred Annis, Mishawaka, Oliver Chilled Plow Co.
Pauline Smith, city, Oliver Chilled Plow Co.
Alice Hanson, Michigan City, Vanderhoof Co.
Clara Bashara, city, Vanderhoof Co.

Glenn Broadhurst, city, Merchants' bank.
Margaret Sweeney, city, Hager Medical Co.
Helen Lentz, Milford, Ind., Remington Typewriter Co.
Violet Strope, Nappanee, Ind., Michigan Ave. Lumber Co.
Hazel Schultz, Coloma, Vanderhoof Co.

Hattie Schwartz, Niles, R. A. Allen, Mishawaka, Ind.
Violet Cooper, Three Oaks, Standard Oil Co.
Weldon Crum, city, Oliver Chilled Plow Co.

Rose Probst, city, National Lumber Co.
Burns Loomis, Wanatah, Oliver Chilled Plow Co.

The college is using the Easter vacation period to install nine new offices in the business department. This addition together with the large bank will give a very thorough business practice system. The bank and each of the nine offices will be supplied with new sets of office books. Loose leaf, voucher system, card system, 18 column journal, a new lumber set, etc., are among the additional features.

DEFENDANT WINS CASE

Barber Secures Damages From Mrs.
Adele Bickford.

A rather unusual case in which the defendant was given a judgment of $161.50 against Mrs. Adele Bickford, proprietor and owner of the Sheridan hotel, was heard by a jury in J. Elmer Peak's court.

Mrs. Bickford sued John B. Ashburn, a barber, for ejectment and damages. He filed a cross complaint and alleged that Mrs. Bickford entered into a verbal agreement with him to give him $161.50 and use of the barber shop until May 1, if at that time he would move out.

The jury, composed of six prominent business men, heard the evidence and rendered a verdict for Ashburn, deciding that he was entitled to remain until May 1 without paying rent.

Ashburn charged that the Sheridan people wanted him to give up his lease because they desired to build a new hotel on the premises.

Notre Dame News

Rev. Charles L. O'Donnell will lecture on "An Introduction to Francis Thompson" before the Medievalists society at the University of Chicago club Tuesday evening, April 25. Joyce Kilmer, the other speaker on the program, will talk on "The Modern Poets."

Forest Fletcher, a well-known track man at the university four years ago, and a graduate in 1911, is assistant physical director at Washington and Lee university, Lexington, Va. He is an instructor in the gymnasium and track and swimming coach.

Eighteen thousand, one hundred forty dollars has been raised so far by the alumni association for the erection of Old Students hall.

Over half of the students returned to their homes during the afternoon yesterday. Classes will resume Wednesday morning, April 26. The only affair of interest for the students in the line of social activity will be the Day Students' formal dinner-dance on Monday evening. Rev. Dr. Cavanaugh, president of the university, and Rev. J. F. DeGroot, chaplain of the Day Students' association, will be the honor guests of the evening.

May 4 is the date set for the annual military inspection of the university battalions during the holidays the paraphernalia will be thoroughly overhauled in preparation for the inspection.

Tenebrae services and the veneration of the true cross were held in Our Lady of the Sacred Heart chapel last evening. Services this morning will begin at 7 o'clock and mass will be celebrated at 8.

CENTENNIAL IS OBSERVED HERE

Practically Every School in County Conducts Historical Program.

St. Joseph county's first celebration of Indiana's centennial occasion was held Friday in practically every school in the county. The entire day in most schools was devoted to celebrating the event, and in some of the buildings evening programs were given. The schools were crowded to capacity with students, their parents and friends, and as a whole the celebration was a success. The day was set aside by Ralph Longfield, county school superintendent, some time ago and much time was given over to preparations for the event.

Probably the most elaborate program of the day was carried out at the high school in Madison township. Here every school in the township, 14 in number, joined in making one big gala day of Friday and the building and grounds were crowded with people. Over 200 people were present all day and at the big dinner served at 12 o'clock 350 persons were served.

Athletics in Morning.

The morning was devoted to a schedule of races and athletic events, of which Municipal Recreation Director E. B. Barnes of this city was in charge. The winners of the various events were as follows: Foot race for boys in the seventh and eighth grades, Warren Geyer and Ellis Hunsberger; foot race for boys in the fifth and sixth grades, George Hesch and Lloyd Sour; race for boys in the third and fourth grades, Vern Schuch and Clarence Backler; boys' race below third grade, George Kaufman; teachers' race, Kenyon Kaufman and Edward Hahn; race for girls in the seventh and eighth grades, Alice Easterday, Blanche Zeiger; race for girls below fourth grade, Fary Boyd, Lena Hummel; boys' relay race, Daugherty school and the high school; girls' relay race, West school and Daugherty school; standing broad jump, Ellis Hunsberger and Warren Geyer; running high jump, Warren Geyer and Ellis Kaufman; "crow" race, Ralph Birk and Roscoe Smeltzer; quarter-mile free-for-all race, Kenyon Kaufman and Warren Scott.

The events closed with the following schools winning these places: Daugherty school, 36; high school, 22; and school eleven, 25.

During the afternoon a number of short plays and scenes depicting events of a historical nature of Madison township were staged by the students of the various schools.

McKibbin in Address.

In the evening the meeting was addressed by Stuart MacKibbin of this city, who spoke on the subject "St. Joseph County's Part in the History of Indiana." After his address the following program was rendered: Community singing; selection, M. T. C. quartet; recitation, "When John Quit the Farm," Nellie Loucks; "Education in Indiana," Raymond Schryer; Centennial march, Clara Birk; recitation, Helen Birk; paper, "Wide Awake Warbles," Charles Schurr; selection, quartet; Early People of Madison Township, Norman Kelley; "The Good Old Days," Jonas Williams; recitation, Marie Schurr; solo, Mrs. Charles Loucks; address, Stuart MacKibbin; selection, quartet; "Star Spangled Banner," all.

In Portage township the schools, like in Madison township, joined together in one big celebration at one building. An evening program of songs, recitations and speeches by the older residents composed the entertainment and the thought of Indiana and her history was carried out in each detail.

Practically the same programs were carried out in all the schools in Madison and Portage townships, though the programs and entertainments were given in each school separate.

200 NEW CARLISLE
ALUMNI BANQUET

Members of Graduating Classes for 20 Years Past on Program.

Over 200 members of the New Carlisle Alumni association attended the 26th annual banquet given in the high school building Friday evening. Clarence Taylor acted in the capacity of toastmaster and a number of toasts were given during the banquet by members of the association ranging from 26 years ago to the graduating class of this year. Following the banquet an entertainment was given in the high school auditorium. Every graduating class for the past 26 years was represented in the program. Earl Rutherford and "Dice" Staples of South Bend represented the class of 1914 with humorous remarks.

MAKES PERFECT RECORD
Wolters Hits 50 While Barnhart's
Squad Takes Lead.

Sergt. William Barnhart's squad came into its own for the first time in three years, according to the detective under chief Friday evening following the posting of a record squad shoot of 354 in the closing throes of this week's session in the police department's spring target practice. Too, Sergt. Ted Wolters topped a perfect mark for individual honors, equalling Officer Peter Rudynski's mark of 50.

Sergt. Stickleby's squad up to Friday held all honors. Rudynski of that squad twice registered perfect individual scores, and the squad mark was 312. 24 points in the lead of all rivals. Hans Brandt, recently appointed to the force, and burdened with the task of showing the ability of Uncle Sam's marines at shooting, since he recently left the service, shot 47 in his first trial at the target.

Chief of Police Millard E. Kerr claims honors for the high mark of the squad. Shooting first, and with avowed intentions of beating Capt. Schock's mark of 32, the chief registered a mark of 38. Keen rivalry has grown between the chief and the day captain, and Schock declares his next week's mark will force the chief to shoot 60 if he wants to beat it.

CHIMNEY BLAZE.

A spark from a chimney at the home of Samuel Ritter, 1093 S. Ernsberger st., about supper time Friday evening called out hose company No. 5. There was slight damage.

CELEBRATE PLANTING OF LINCOLN WAY TREE

Planting of the first tree on Lincoln highway, April 11, was celebrated Friday evening at the Colfax school with an appropriate program, featuring talks and musical numbers. Mr. and Mrs. Ryell T. Miller presented the tree, which was accepted by the board of education. Mayor Fred W. Keller addressed the meeting.

Mrs. L. S. Fiehenschner, president of the Women's Federated Civic Clubs, presided at the meeting, which opened with songs by the school children, followed by the scriptural lesson given by Rev. John M. Alexander. Miss Lillian Menhard, principal of the school, read a paper, "Every Man's Creed," in the absence of Mrs. John Kelley, whose illness prevented her taking part in the program.

A proclamation by Gov. Samuel Ralston was read by Supt. H. G. Imel, and was followed by Mayor Keller's address. Miss Gertrude Vaughn read a paper on "Tree Planting," which had been prepared by the club women. A round table discussion on "Memorial Mile" was held at the close of the exercises.

FOR YOUR CHILD'S COUGH.

If your child has a cold, nose runs or coughs must get a small bottle of Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey. It's a pleasant Pine-Tar-Honey syrup, just what children like and just the medicine to soothe the cough and check the cold.
